

THE DOLLIST

Mary Younakof

Trying out the colors on Mary Younakof's dress color wheel (San Jose ICA)

San Jose Institute of Contemporary Art

August 6 @ 8:00 am - 5:00 pm

Think of it as an audience-participation art happening. Artist Mary Younakof has been experimenting with what happens when she dresses in 49 brightly colored hues across the color spectrum. For instance, “Blue is institutional,” Younakof said, “and when I wore it, people asked me if I was a nurse.”

Younakof also likes for others to wear her dresses to test the effect. So she's a perfect artist for San Jose's Institute of Contemporary Art (ICA) to showcase as it explores “the role of the performance art medium in contemporary society,” as the gallery does every First Friday. Show up an hour early (at 6 pm), and you can wear one of the dresses. Wear clean underwear, the coat check area is the changing room. –Cy Musiker
